

Title of Presentation:

Training Dogs for Conservation

The Department of Conservation runs a programme called "Conservation Dogs New Zealand" to certify and use dogs as a tool in the indication of presence of both pest and rare endemic species. Certified dogs are used all over the country with interest internationally in both our dogs and training methods. Scott and Miriam breed, train and work dogs in predator detection, and Scott also works dogs for wild animal management (pig control)

THE UNIVERSITY OF WAIKATO
Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato

SCHOOL OF PSYCHOLOGY

SEMINAR

Date:
Friday, 16 July

Time:
12 noon—2.00pm
(time for questions)

Room:
J1.10

Miriam Ritchie
&
Scott Theobald

Department of Conservation

