

Table of Contents

---

Preface .....	v
About the editors and authors .....	vii
Introduction: Rosalind McClean .....	1
Chapter 1: Tahu Kukutai: Quantum Māori, Māori quantum: State constructions of Māori identities in the Census, 1857/8-2006.....	27
Chapter 2: Michael Goldsmith: European ethnicity and its analogues in New Zealand Censuses from the 1840s to the 1950s .....	52
Chapter 3: Rebecca Lenihan: 'Counting' migrants: New Zealand Scots 1840-1920, a case study.....	72
Chapter 4: Ian Pool: A 'Caledonian' conundrum: Scottish reproductive regimes in 'the Old Country' and the 'Better Britain of the South Seas', 1876-1901 .....	94
Chapter 5: Jo Barnes and David Swain: Academic and family history: A civil partnership ....	129
Chapter 6: Gerard Horn: Did ethnicity count?: Population structure and the formation of Wellington's Irish Protestant community, 1870-1930.....	152
Chapter 7: Angela McCarthy: Exploring ethnicity and ethnic identities in New Zealand lunatic asylums before 1910 .....	185
Afterword: Brad Patterson.....	207
References .....	214
Index.....	243