Noted in discussion
1. That the policy documented current practices and conventions.
2. That it had not been possible to accommodate a request to start classes later on a Monday and finish earlier on a Friday due to the pressure on rooms. However, the timetabling of the regional bus service could be reviewed if this was hindering out of town students getting to classes on time.
3. That often staff did not cancel room bookings when the room was no longer required and this created problems for other staff trying to find teaching spaces. Consideration would be given to possible solutions to this issue.

2. That other institutions were also dealing with issues of integrity for online assessments and there would be an opportunity to learn from them.
3. That having the divisions manage some of the academic integrity matters would help them to identify areas where staff could improve teaching practices.
4. That concerns about ensuring fair and consistent disciplinary practices across divisions had been addressed through the processes that had been put in place in the regulations. IT solutions would also be enhanced to aid with this.
5. That it was good to see that bullying, discrimination and harassment were now explicitly included in the regulations as misconduct. However, there was still further work required in these areas.
6. That thanks had been expressed to everyone who had assisted with the revisions to the regulations.
