The Hamilton Club Scholarship in Health was established in 2017 by the generous legacy of The Hamilton Club. The Club served the Hamilton and wider rural communities for 119 years (1898 – 2017). However, like many other clubs in New Zealand, membership of the Club declined over the years (a reflection of the changing times), thus making it no longer viable.

The remaining 54 members of the Club decided unanimously to dissolve the Club and distribute its $1.3 million capital to five Hamilton organisations, creating an enduring legacy. The assets are derived from the sale of the Club’s historic building. Purchased by a developer, the former clubhouse was restored to its original 1904 state and has since been re-purposed for professional office use. It will stand proud for another 100 years under the name ‘Panama House’.
