

Endace Women in Technology Scholarship - 2024

THE UNIVERSITY OF WAIKATO
Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato

The Endace Women in Technology Scholarship was established in 2022 to support women studying towards a Bachelor of Computer Science, Bachelor of Science in Computer Science or Bachelor of Engineering with Honours in Software Engineering at the University of Waikato. Endace was spun out of research conducted at the University of Waikato in the early 2000s around packet capture, the practice of capturing and analysing network data. Endace now works with world-leading organisations such as telcos and mobile carriers, banks and financial traders, global media companies, healthcare organisations and governments and military, to help manage their critical data networks. Two scholarships will be awarded each year. The selection process involves an interview.

1. Purpose

- 1.1. The Scholarships provide financial support and work experience opportunities for promising undergraduate female students studying full-time towards a Bachelor of Computer Science, Bachelor of Science in Computer Science, or Bachelor of Engineering with Honours in Software Engineering at the University of Waikato and who are intending to pursue a career in the New Zealand technology industry.
